What does it feel like?

During a Migun session you will feel warm, smooth, far infra-red heated jade heads gently move along each side of your spine from the top of your head to the tip of your tailbone, while another set moves up and down each leg for a relaxing, enjoyable, stress relieving experience. Studies and customer testimonials have shown that a 30 minute daily session can help to provide relief from many chronic conditions.

Will it be uncomfortable?

Every experience on Migun should be an enjoyable one. If you find your session uncomfortable in any way, it means you need more padding. There are different density paddings available to make you comfortable. Over time, as your muscles relax you will be able to thin out the padding. Until you reach that point, it is important to remember that Migun does not work faster without padding, so relax and enjoy!

The most common areas that people request padding for, are the tailbone, upper back or lower legs. Why? As we age our muscles tend to tighten and we lose flexibility. The tailbone is an area we rarely flex and stretch. Over time each session will help to relax and stretch your muscles while gently helping to increase flexibility.

Healing Reactions

Most people after a Migun session feel great! Occasionally someone may experience a healing reaction. A healing reaction is a temporary reaction your body goes through when it reacts to a treatment in a positive way. It is a sign of healing and detoxification. The stronger your healing reaction, the better it is for your body. Drink plenty of water after each session to hydrate and help flush out toxins. Continue to use Migun as you experience these healing reactions, as they will lead to a healthier, better you.
